

About NOUS

NOUS emerged in 2006 out of a cultural communication project with digital handhelds and has been fused since 2016 with PocketScience, which is mainly active in the corporate sector. Their joint portfolio contains more than a hundred in part award-winning and international projects of various sizes and orientation, including the live stream portal for the Vienna State Opera, media guides for the European Parliament, and mobile solutions for the ORF (The Austrian Broadcasting Corporation). NOUS's core competences are in mobile and web development, streaming, media design, exhibition guides, and solutions for digital business processes. Seven of the ten most valuable branches in Austria rely on the support of NOUS.
